

Urban project in Milan under fascism

Alice Ingold, (Associate Professor, Ecole des Hautes Etudes en Sciences Sociales, Paris)

After a brief presentation of the Italian way of writing urban history since the 1970', I will present the results of my research on urban project in Milan during fascism. This research aims at describing the variety of actors involved in the urban project (municipality, fascist administration, engineer and architects, private owners) and at examining the capacity of the fascist regime to order the society and the capacity of urbanism to order the urban territory.
